VIVA BOBBYJO

Young Carberry is out to equal things up with his dad

YOUNG GENIUS: Paul Carberry gets ready to celebrate after winning the Irish National on Bobbyjo.

By DAVE MITCHELL

HISTORIANS will have a field day if Bobbyjo wins the Martell Grand National today.

Most people will point out the nine-year-old will be the first Irish-trained National winner since L'Escargot 1975.

But Bobbyjo has a much longer trend to buck than that!

He is trained by Tommy Carberry, the man who steered L'Escargot and ridden by Tommy's son, Paul.

But a trawl through Grand National history shows the pair have a mountain to climb today, for no son of a National winning jockey has emulated his father in the big one.

Several have gone close. Peter Scudamore rode Corbiere into third place in 1985, 26 years after his father had scored on Oxo. Maurice Barnes and his dad, Tommy, finished first and second respectively in 1979 and '62 while both Richard and Mark Pitman finished second.

But, like his father, Paul is an Aintree natural as a series of brilliant rides over the fences have already shown.

The most relaxed man in the weighing room, you know you will get a run for your money here with the man they call "Alice".

OLD MASTERS: Tommy Carberry and L'Escargot survived this to win in '75

Outlook is Suny

class and is likely to carry champion jockey Tony McCoy a bit further than last year when he crashed at the first fence on Challenger Du Luc.

Record breaker Richard Dunwoody has opted for Call It A Day, who advertised his chance at Uttoxeter last time out.

But the National has not proved a lucky event for his trainer, David Nicholson, and it all points to a Suny Bay day.
